PRODUCTIVITY

Desktop PC Efficiency

- Wish it were easier to locate and access print files from your PC and your MFP device?
- Looking for office technology that encourages users to get more done?
- Want to cut down on the time and resources needed to create, assemble, and print documents?

ADVANCE to an office where PCs and MFP devices work better together.

Do you spend too much time searching for files? Moving them from a scanner to a PC? Or painstakingly collating information from many sources into a new document? Most of us do.

Canon delivers document productivity solutions that create a stronger link between imageRUNNER ADVANCE systems and your desktop workflows. This closer integration will enable you to bypass many tedious, time-consuming document preparation tasks so you can get more quality work done.

Scan documents directly to specific folders on your network or PC.

Combine pages from many formats – including Microsoft® Office files – into new, professional documents.

Locate documents easily with powerful search tools and first-page previews.

Access stored documents from both your PC and the imageRUNNER ADVANCE user interface.

ADVANCE

Do document-related tasks have to be such a chore?

It almost never fails. Accomplishing exactly what you want with a document takes longer than you expect. Your business invests in state-of-the-art hardware and software — yet you still encounter many roadblocks before you can get the job done right.

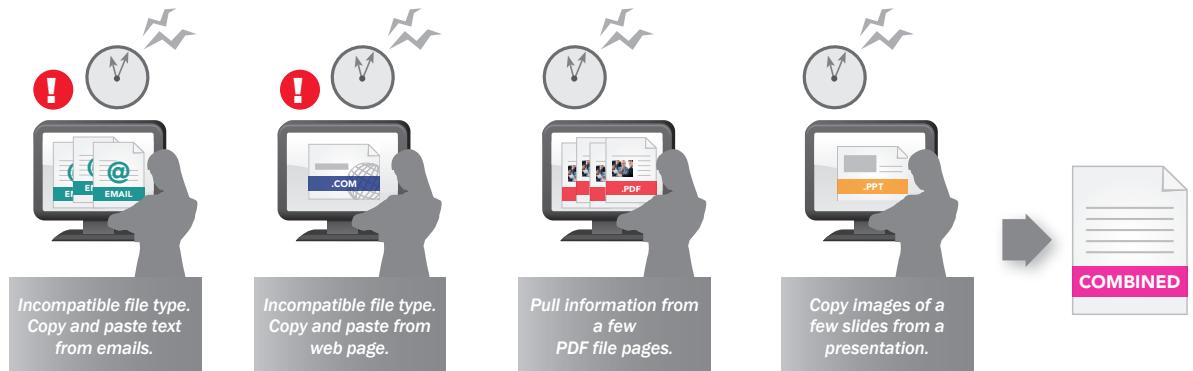

“How many times do I have to open the wrong documents so I can find the right one?”

It takes too long to find needed documents.

Users need to walk to the device down the hall to access their stored files on the MFP.

Combining information from emails, web pages, and other documents into one new, finished document can be a slow, painstaking process.

Users send print jobs without knowing if the intended printer is fully operational.

Take Control of Devices and Documents with a Tightly Integrated Desktop

Adding features to print devices certainly makes them more useful. But when you can leverage desktop PCs to take advantage of MFP features, you can really reach new levels of document productivity. The Canon productivity solution provides practical access to documents whether users are at their desks or they walk up to the imageRUNNER ADVANCE MFP itself.

Scan and save, or access print-ready documents directly from the imageRUNNER ADVANCE interface.

Advanced Box

The imageRUNNER ADVANCE Desktop application allows access to native and print-ready personal files – including Microsoft Office formats – right from your desktop PC.
